To all Royal Mail employees

To all members of the Communication Workers Union

The Free Trade Union of Postal Workers (Wolny Związek Zawodowy Pracowników Poczty - WZZPP) expresses its solidarity with the decision taken regarding the strike of Royal Mail employees. We support all your demands for a strike and wish you a victorious fight.

We are well aware of how hard and responsible the work of every postal worker is. Whether it is the United Kingdom or Poland or any other country in the world, postal workers deserve decent pay and decent working conditions for the service they provide to society.

In Poland, postal workers are also fighting for higher wages and better working conditions, and the most militant workers and trade unionists are being repressed. The same was done to the chairperson of our union, who was disciplinary dismissed for his entry on Facebook. The dismissal was in violation of all legal norms in Poland.

Like you, we too face intimidation by the management. Poczta Polska (Polish Post) stigmatises our struggle the same way as Royal Mail stigmatises yours, arguing that our actions undermine the trust of business partners and customers in Poczta Polska. And we, like you, want to live with dignity first of all.

Several years ago, 95% of employees voted against the privatisation of Royal Mail. Your vote was ignored and, despite your opposition, Royal Mail was privatised. Privatisation means a reduction in the quality of public services and brings nothing good for the workers themselves. That is why we also support your fight to halt and reverse the privatisation of your company.

Once again, we stand in solidarity with your fight for a better tomorrow!

Fight until you win!
